Optional coverage: professional PR consultancy services. These are essential in helping to protect a client's reputation in the event of a crisis which could cause a negative financial impact.

AIG Belgium has an in-house Senior Claims Consultant. This consultant reviews and manages documents related to environmental technology and translates them into non-technical language for the claims manager. The consultant works with the client to find an adequate solution taking into account the client's needs and requirements. Along with this internal specialisation, we are able to draw on a regular panel of local and international environmental experts.
